Massive Study Could Lead to End of Draft

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The government plans to analyze selective service histories of possibly 200,000 men as part of a massive study that could lead to a halt in the military draft.

Officials told The Associated Press today that Pentagon experts conducting the draft studies for President Johnson have asked the Selective Service System to take a 1 per cent sample of the records of all men in the draft pool.

This involves men between 18 and 35. Selective Service headquarters said there are about 29 million men in that pool.

The purpose of the sample, officials explained, will be to get a more definitive view of the status of people within the pool, from which men are called for induction.

Among other things, the sample will seek to find out to what extent men have moved from one deferred classification to another, thus avoiding induction.

Men being drafted these days average about 22 years old. Roughly 100,000 men a year are inducted, all of them going into the Army.

A little-noticed request to Congress calls for $375,000 to finance the sampling job this fiscal year.

In another phase of the Johnson-ordered study, it was learned, the Census Bureau will make a special effort in its monthly survey of households to determine the attitude of young men toward military service.

This, too, is to be done at the request of authorities conducting the draft study.

About 300,000 households are likely to be touched by the Census Bureau survey, officials said today.

The draft study was ordered by Johnson last April. He said at the time it will consider alternatives, including "the possibility of meeting our requirements on an entirely voluntary basis in the next decade."

Spanish Ship Fired on by Cuban Guns
NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — The commissioner's office at Mathew Town reported today the Spanish freighter Sierra Aranzazu "was supposedly machine-gunned by Cubans" before it burned Monday off the Cuban coast.

The report, from Commissioner Neville E. Bosfield, was received here by the chief of island commissioner, D.H. Burrows.

The 20 crewmen of the freighter, two dead and another dying, were picked off a raft near the burning ship by the Dutch vessel SS. P.G. Thulin and taken to Mathew Town on Inagua Island. Inagua is only 50 miles off Cuba.

Highway Department Buying Land for New Interstate 30 in Hempstead Near Fulton

Compromise On Districting Is Rejected

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate rejected 42 to 40 today a proposed compromise on legislative reapportionment.

The defeat was a setback for administration - supported efforts to break a stalemate over the pending $3.3-billion foreign aid bill, to which it was offered as an amendment, and left prospects for early adjournment of Congress in doubt.

The vote came on a non-binding "sense of the Congress" substitute for a proposed rider to the foreign aid bill. The rider is designed to force a delay of a year or more in Supreme Court-ordered reapportionment of seats in both houses of state legislatures on a population basis.

That rider, sponsored chiefly by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, has tied up the foreign aid bill for several weeks. Dirksen's still pending amendment is aimed to buy time for Congress to submit, and the states possibly to ratify, a constitutional amendment negating the Supreme Court ruling.

It led to a "baby filibuster" by a band of Democrats to prevent a vote. Defeat of the substitute was a blow to the administration.

Karen May Delay Return to University

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Karen Carlson, the Miss Arkansas entry who was named first runner-up to Miss America Saturday night, is trying to decide whether to drop out of the University of Arkansas.

Karen, who won the Miss Arkansas title as Miss University of Arkansas, said she had been told by Miss America Pageant officials to "stand by at all times."

As runner-up to Vonda Kay Van Dyke of Arizona, the new Miss America, Karen would have to fill in for Miss America if something happened to her.

Karen said she had "a couple of very appealing offers," but couldn't talk about them right now.

She said she, her mother and her traveling companion, Mrs. Frederick Rogers of Shreveport, would have a conference soon to decide what Karen will do.

She is the third Miss Arkansas to be first runner-up to Miss America. The others were Frances Jane Anderson in 1961 and Becky McCall in 1962.

Donna Axum of El Dorado, who gave up her Miss America title Saturday, is expected to return to the University of Arkansas.

Dry Weather in State Prevails
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Dry, sunny weather prevailed over most of Arkansas again today, but light showers were in the forecast for the eastern areas tonight.

In the near future the Arkansas State Highway Department will begin acquisition of right of way for the construction of Interstate Highway 30 from Fulton to Sheppard a distance of 4.6 miles.

According to Henry Gray, Chief, Right of Way Division, the Highway Department will offer persons or businesses who have buildings on the property to be purchased for highway construction the benefit of their relocation assistance. Listings of realtors, contractors and house movers will be maintained for the consideration and use of those who must necessarily relocate.

N. A. McLeod will be the negotiator for the Highway Department in the acquisition of property needed for the construction of this project and will contact each affected owner.

If needed, relocation advisory assistance will be given by the negotiator, so that displaced persons will be discommoded as little as possible.

Since the properties needed for this construction project have already been appraised, the State plans to advertise for construction bids as soon as the property purchases can be completed.

Khanh Seems in Control of Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Khanh and the generals who remained loyal to him appeared in firm control of Saigon today after failure of the weekend coup attempt.

Khanh's political future appeared to depend, however, on his acquiescing to demands of leading generals, including some leaders of the brief, bloodless rebellion.

The official Viet Nam news agency disclosed that 10 of these military leaders sent Khanh an ultimatum two days before Sunday's uprising. They demanded that the premier purge all "corrupt elements from the armed forces and civil administration" in the next two months.

The group also called for severe punishment of profiteers "who have exploited the people and strangled the national economy" rather than the usual government policy of sending such persons abroad. The generals insisted that Khanh crack down on persons in the government with Communist or neutralist leanings.

Among the signers was Maj. Gen. Duong Van Duc, who took over the coup attempt in its latter stage and then made peace with generals who remained loyal to Khanh.

There appeared to be only a hairline distinction in the thinking of the loyal and rebel groups who wound up uniting in support of Khanh.

The main bond of the rebel generals was that they had been shifted or expected to be in the shakeup Khanh ordered under pressure from Buddhists, the chief religious faction in South Viet Nam.

Khanh appeared to be avoiding public announcements that did not have approval of the leading generals. Several of them, including Duc, sat with the premier Monday when he told a news conference his government's chief goal was to destroy communism, colonialism and neutralism while building through democracy.

A splinter group of students distributed handbills today calling for an anti-American demonstration.

Movement of troops and armored vehicles around Saigon continued to spark rumors of still another coup, but they appeared unfounded.

University Seeks Salary Hikes

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dr. David W. Mullins, president of the University of Arkansas, said Monday that the university will bid for teacher salary increases in the 1965 Legislature.

Mullins told a fall convocation audience at the Medical Center that more salary money is needed "to assist us in further closing the gap between salary levels at the university and those at similar institutions."

Mullins said the university expects 9,000 students this year. The total enrollment reflects an increase of 2,500 during the last five years.

17% Absences in New York School Boycott

By RICHARD F. WHALEN
NEW YORK (AP) — White pupils again boycotted New York's public schools today, protesting a program of racially integrating classrooms by busing children away from their neighborhoods.

For the second and final day of the protest, parents returned to picket lines in greater numbers than before. Police said 2,352 persons marched at 194 schools.

Attendance figures were being compiled by school authorities with an anxious eye on possible loss in state aid exceeding $2 million.

Absenteeism Monday, the opening of a new academic year, was more than a quarter of a million children.

Isolated checks this morning indicated a substantial loss of attendance.

A Brooklyn school completely vacant Monday had only one pupil present today out of an enrollment of 398. At a Bronx school a milkman delivered only 75 cartons of milk for lunches, compared to the customary 400.

The demonstration against a pupil integration program was most effective in schools involved in the program and in schools that parents thought would be involved.

School board President James B. Donovan said he was in touch with law enforcement officials.

Bad Judgment in Viet Nam, Barry Says

By WALTER R. MEARS
WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater invaded the traditionally Democratic South today, accusing the Johnson administration of failure, mistakes and "unbelievably bad judgment" in handling the guerrilla war in South Viet Nam.

He said the Democrats haven't told the people what the United States is doing in the Southeast Asian nation—or "what we hope eventually to accomplish there."

Winthrop Lists 6 Issues in His TV Opener

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Winthrop Rockefeller, Republican candidate for governor, said Monday night in a television speech formally opening his campaign that the main issue was the sixth term bid of his opponent, Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

He also listed five other areas he plans to explore during the campaign.

He said he would attack the Faubus record on highways, education, civil rights, welfare and gambling.

Rockefeller said Faubus cannot be trusted on his promise not to run for a seventh term, since he has said before he would not seek re-election and has done so.

The GOP candidate said he would work for a four-year term for governor, and promised that he would not run for a third term.

He said highways had been a political football for "as long as we can remember," and Rockefeller promised to substitute planning and evaluation for political expediency in highway programming if he is elected.

He said highways should be built with a view toward what they can produce in the way of economic development of the area.

Rockefeller challenged Faubus to say where he will get the money to finance a rural road construction program, which is an integral part of his sixth-term platform.

Faubus can't fill that promise without additional revenues, and the people have had enough taxes, Rockefeller said.

Educational problems are complex, Rockefeller said, and the state must consider the complete picture from public schools to universities. Rockefeller said he is primarily concerned now with the public schools, but said the state cannot afford to move ahead in one area at the expense of another.

He said he was pleased that Faubus had promised teachers

Pharmacists to Meet in Hope Sept. 30

Members of District No. 11, Arkansas Pharmaceutical Association, will meet at 8 p.m., Wednesday, September 23.

Fred Regland, Jr. of Stuttgart, president of the Association, will be the speaker. He will explain the policies for administering the Association's Code of Ethics, and other important matters concerning pharmacy will be highlighted.

Other officials attending the meeting will be the member of the Arkansas State Board of Pharmacy from the Southwest Section, faculty members of the University of Arkansas, School of Pharmacy, and Wm. G. Smith of Little Rock, the Association's secretary-manager.

Petition Ruled Not Corrected

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Secretary of State Kelly Bryant would not accept corrected petitions through which B. T. Lader of Blytheville hoped to qualify as an independent candidate for the state Senate.

On the last day he could file as an independent candidate, Sept. 3, Lader presented petitions with about 2,800 signatures to Bryant. The petitions lacked the verification and names of the canvassers, Bryant said.

Bryant gave Lader a 10-day extension to correct petitions.

However, Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett later ruled that Bryant had no legal right to give Lader the extension. Bryant based his refusal Monday on this ruling.

Lader had hoped to oppose Sen. J. Lee Bearden of Leachville in the November general election.

Lader said he would continue his efforts to get on the ballot but he did not know what his next step would be.

Coffelt in Appeal to High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attorney Kenneth Coffelt of Little Rock mailed an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court Monday, only six hours after the Arkansas Supreme Court rejected him as an independent candidate for attorney general.

The state court said Coffelt needed petitions signed by 46,214 persons to get on the November election ballot. Coffelt contended he needed only 50 signatures. He had submitted a petition bearing 75 signatures.

Secretary of State Kelly Bryant declared the petition insufficient on the advice of Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett.

Coffelt contended Act 205 of 1957 allows a candidate to file with a minimum of 50 signatures, but the court held this applies only if the office was vacant.

Otherwise, the court held, a person filing as an independent candidate must have signatures amounting to 15 per cent of the number of persons who voted for governor in the last general election.

Coffelt's petition to the U.S. court asks that Bryant be prevented from preparing the general election ballot until U.S. Supreme Court can hear the case. Bryant plans to draw up the ballot next Monday.

Fire Destroys 4 Buildings in Business Area

Firemen stood a "around-the-clock" watch over the smouldering ruins of four downtown Hope buildings today following an early Monday fire that destroyed them and took the lives of three persons.

The dead, all guests of the Hotel Barlow, were identified as William E. Foster Jr., 25, Hope poultry worker; Theo Clay, 48, and his wife, Annie, 41, of Turrell in Crittenden County. Some 20 other guests escaped from the hotel. E. F. Price, in his 70's, a permanent resident of the hotel was hospitalized for observation but was reported all right.

Besides the hotel, a woman's apparel store, The Smart Shop; Hazel's Beauty Shop and Spades Florists, were completely destroyed. Nothing was saved in any of the establishments.

Foster's body was recovered from the debris about 1 p.m. Monday after firemen spend hours cooling off the smouldering ruins. The other two bodies were recovered about 5 p.m. All of the bodies were found in an area where their rooms were located, indicating they had died in their rooms.

The hotel, a Southwest Arkansas landmark erected 79 years ago, was two stories high except for its southwest corner which was three stories. Foster's room was on the third floor.

Authorities began looking for the Clays when a construction foreman from Texarkana came to Hope looking for him. Clay, an employee of the W.K. . .

Vaccination Case Before High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Tom Gentry, attorney for members of a De Witt religious sect which does not believe in medical treatment, said today he has asked the U.S. Supreme Court to allow children of the sect to attend school unvaccinated.

The order, if issued, would remain in effect until a lawsuit brought by parents of the children could be decided by the high court on its merits.

The Arkansas Supreme Court refused to issue an injunction allowing the children to attend school unvaccinated until it could consider the case.

Originally, 25 children were involved. Samuel King, superintendent of De Witt schools, said today that 12 of them had been vaccinated and now are attending classes.

King said parents of the other 13 had asked for a list of school books their children should use so they could order them. The list was supplied, King said.

Gentry, of Little Rock, said that although the U.S. Supreme Court is in summer recess until Oct. 5, one of the justices could order the children admitted on a temporary basis.

Members of the sect, the General Assembly and Church of the First Born, believe in faith healing and opposed smallpox vaccinations.

Gentry's action actually is an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court from the Arkansas court's refusal to issue the order.

Gentry also asked the high court to prevent action being taken against the parents of the children for failing to comply with the state compulsory school attendance law.

Judging in Hope Star's $100 Vacation Picture Contest was completed today and the winners will be announced with reproductions of their prize photographs in a page layout in tomorrow's Star.

There were 73 entrants — with perhaps twice as many pictures since many entered more than one photograph — in the contest which ran from the first of June through Labor Day.

The competition was judged by A. H. Washburn, editor and publisher, along with the department heads of the newspaper staff. The $100 prize money will be divided as follows: First $50; second $25; third $15; fourth $10 — and two honorable mentions.

Cronin Says Charges Are Unfounded

BOSTON (AP) — The American League office withheld no pertinent information Sept. 9 when club owners reaffirmed the sale of the New York Yankees to the Columbia Broadcasting System.

That's the answer President Joe Cronin has given Chicago owner Arthur Allyn. Cronin said Monday Allyn's charges were "totally unfounded."

He then produced documents intended to refute Allyn's principal contentions and added he was mailing copies of the same papers to Chicago.

"Mr. Allyn's statement that the American League office deliberately withheld information is totally unfounded," Cronin said. "Nothing was withheld with which the owners could base their decision."

"I regret I have to make public what the American League normally treats as a privileged document," Cronin added. He then produced partial transcripts of the meeting at which approval was given to the sale of 80 per cent of the Yankees to the radio-TV medium.

Th vote had been 8-2 with Allyn and Kansas City owner Charles O. Finley casting negative ballots.

The portion of the transcript in question involved remarks by John T. Hayes, league special counsel, concerning "possible antitrust violations in the transaction. It said, in part:

"And I have been asked by the commissioner to state to this meeting that it is his view that such a risk exists. It is also his view that the matter has been passed upon by competent counsel."

In a letter to Cronin which he made public, Allyn said Commissioner Ford Frick had been advised of possible risk by his counsel, Paul A. Porter, but that Porter's sentiments in the matter had not been expressed at the meeting.

Hurricane Is Losing Its Force

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Gladys began losing force today and forecasters said signs pointed to a more northerly turn of the storm — good news for the U.S. mainland.

Winds in the latest of this year's parade of seven tropical storms dropped from 90 to 75 miles an hour, barely hurricane force, and a further decline was in prospect.

At midday, Gladys was about 750 miles east-northeast of San Juan.

Hurricane Ethel still flickered on Weather Bureau radar screens but Dora, killer of at least seven persons, no longer exists.

The Weather Bureau also discontinued advisories on Ethel, except to ships at sea.

The alphabetical gap between Ethel and Gladys was occupied briefly — by a storm, called Florence.

Tropical storm Florence formed Sept. 7 off the eastern tip of Africa, and dissipated three days later in the North Atlantic.

Chile Site of Star Research Observatory

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A lonely, windswept peak in northern Chile a group of American universities is building the nucleus of star-research center that could become the greatest in the world.

The story comes from Dr. N. U. Mayall, director of Kitt Peak National Observatory near Tucson, where the administration wants to build a $10-million, 150-inch telescope, second only to the 200-inch telescope on Palomar Mountain in California.

Kitt Peak is operated by the Association of Universities for Research in Astronomy — AURA — under contract to the National Science Foundation.

AURA three years ago began a survey of possible observatory sites in South America and recently selected the 7,200-foot Chilean mountain called Cerro Tololo, 300 miles north of Santiago.

Here will be built, with $500,000 in Air Force funds, a 60-inch telescope to be trained on such little-studied targets as the Clouds of Magellan — the two galaxies nearest us — and the Milky Way, which lies just beyond the horizon of Northern Hemisphere telescopes.

Germany, France, Belgium, Holland, and Sweden have decided to locate a major observatory in northern Chile with six instruments with a mirror up to 140 inches in diameter.

This group, called ESO, for European Southern Observatory — may select one or more of the six peaks in AURA's 100-square mile reservation or it may choose other land near them.

There are reports, so far unconfirmed, of a hush-hush project to build with private funds a giant telescope rivaling or exceeding in size the 200-inch one operated by California Institute of Technology and the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Using 100-foot-tall towers with sensitive devices to detect small heat pockets in air currents flowing up and over 6,875-foot Kitt Peak, scientists have found that even these small thermals can distort the faint light coming from distant stars.

As a result, the dome housing the new 150-inch scope planned here may be mounted on stilts 100 to 300 feet high. This would place the scope's highly polished mirror in quiet air above the flow of thermals.

Another "first" in astronomy being pioneered in Tucson, which probably will have application at the new Chilean center, is automatic operation of a telescope by remote control.

Scheduled to go into operation late this year, this telescope at first will be controlled via telephone lines from headquarters in Tucson 30 miles away. Later it will be run by microwave radio.

The dome will open and close, the telescope will train on distant stars, and what it sees will be taped and sent back to headquarters for study — all by remote control.

Perfection of this technique would mean that Orbiting Astronomical Observatories — OAO — to be launched in the next few years will not have to give up space for human occupants.

Astronomers who now often shiver through winter nights in open domes on mile-high mountains tending their huge mechanical "eyes" would be able to work in shirt-sleeve comfort in laboratories near their homes.

Picture on Viet Nam Is Still Foggy

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, trailing a cloud of optimism behind him, has gone back to his job in South Viet Nam as U.S. ambassador. But, as usual, the picture of Viet Nam is still foggy.

If it had not been for the overwhelming interest in this country in the Johnson-Goldwater political campaign, the chaos in Viet Nam now would have a sharper hold on the American consciousness.

With the trouble and turmoil bubbling through the Southeast Asian country, which the United States has been trying for eight years to save from Communist take-over, Taylor came home for four days to report on the problem.

He talked with President Johnson and with congressmen, reportedly departing with confidence in "eventual victory." This is almost par for the course.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, during the Kennedy administration, made a number of trips to Viet Nam and returned from almost all of them optimistic although the fight against communism definitely was not being won.

Taylor had succeeded Henry Cabot Lodge as ambassador. Lodge resigned this summer to take part in Republican politics after a year in Saigon. During his stay there one mess piled on top of another.

Nevertheless, he came home saying Viet Nam was "on the right track."

Even Johnson, when he was vice president, visited Viet Nam, shook hands all around, and was so impressed by President Ngo Dinh Diem that he compared him with Sir Winston Churchill.

It was hardly an apt comparison for the Vietnamese got so fed up with Diem's dictatorship that he was killed in a military coup which put an officers' junta in control. That was last November, while Lodge was still there.

Then in January the junta was tossed out in another coup by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh who became boss and then a few weeks ago was forced out in an uprising, led by students. He, too, had the dictatorship tag placed on him.

Buddhists and Catholics fought each other, although the Communist guerrillas were breaking ever harder down the necks of all of them. There was developing chaos. Finally Khanh came back in charge again.

And that's where the situation stands now, with Taylor optimistic.

The upheavals of the past few weeks were the worst in the eight years that the United States has been giving the South Vietnamese military and economic aid to stand off the Red guerrillas from the north.

And this week a Saigon newspaper, the Buddhists' leading publication, accused Americans of triggering the bloody and sometimes fatal clashes between them and Catholics.

And a clandestine radio of the Red guerrillas was calling on the South Vietnamese — soldiers and civilians — to drive out the Americans.

Taylor returned to his job in Saigon with Johnson administration approval for a political-military buildup to put huge pressure on the guerrillas and further U.S. persuasion to promote a strong central government and for a revised economic program.

This was no basic change in American policy although it more emphasis had been put on the economic help years ago — to give Vietnamese more reason for opposing communism — they might have been less indifferent to it and the story at this moment might truly give more reason for optimism.

It's possible that under this generalized picture of American help the decision may have been made for a truly tougher strategy against the Reds. But that remains to be seen.

Instead of getting better, the picture in Viet Nam has steadily been getting worse.

The presidential election here is almost two months away. Before then events in Viet Nam may be a big talking point in the campaign since Sen. Barry Goldwater has been complaining of the way the war there has been handled.

stitute was certain to spark a renewal of their talkathon against the Dirksen rider.

The substitute, offered by Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., was backed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee. It was phrased in language intended to avoid a challenge of the reapportionment ruling and a direct confrontation between Congress and the court.

The proposed compromise would have declared it is "the sense of the Congress" that reasonable time should be allowed the states to comply with the Supreme Court ruling.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and a group of senators supporting the Supreme Court decision have been conducting a talkathon against the Dirksen rider to prevent its adoption.

Up until Monday, the group was holding out against the "sense of the Congress" substitute until its sponsors agreed to accept modifying language the liberals proposed.

Fire Destroys

Ingram Construction Company of West Memphis, was working on Interstate 30 in Miller County.

Clay's truck was found parked near the hotel. Police Chief Alvin Willis said it was learned that Clay had gone home for the weekend and returned with his wife.

Foster was born and raised in Hempstead county and was a permanent resident of the hotel.

Fire Chief, James Cobb said he was almost sure the blaze originated in the hotel kitchen. He said the fire was out of control by the time firemen arrived, shortly after 4 a.m. Monday. Firemen helped 10 guests out of the hotel.

The blaze was brought under control only when it reached an alley. Sparks and burning pieces of wood littered residential areas, posing a threat to houses for several hours. The heat was so intense that all plate glass store fronts across the street cracked.

The City of Prescott sent six men and a truck to help fight the blaze which threatened to spread for several hours.

Much of Hope's telephone and electrical service was knocked out but all service was restored by 1 p.m.

One insurance man figured the loss to be in excess of $150,000. Other sources indicated it would run $250,000.

Ben Owen was owner and operator of the hotel.

Herndon - Cornelius Funeral Home which recovered the bodies from the ruins said there had been positive identification.

Services for Foster were to be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at Herndon-Cornelius Chapel by the Rev. A. C. Kirby. Burial was to be in Evening Shade Cemetery.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Foster, Sr., two sisters, Mary Ann and Rose Marie Foster of the home.

The Clays are survived by a daughter, Mrs. Rebecca Madden of Tennessee. Clay is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Clay of Turrell, and a brother, Morris Clay of Turrell.

The remains were returned to Turrell last night. Citizens Funeral Home of West Memphis will announce arrangements.

a $1,000 to $1,500 pay raise; but he feels that is not enough. Rockefeller said Arkansas must make teachers' salaries competitive nationally, and said the state is further away from the national norm now than in 1954.

On civil rights, Rockefeller said his family has been interested in race relations for three generations, and that the Rockefeller family have given a great deal of money to segregated schools in the belief that only through education can the problem be solved.

Rockefeller then rebuked Faubus for charging that the GOP candidate had changed his position on the race issue.

"My moderate beliefs are well known by Mr. Faubus. I discussed them with him many times back in the days when we were exchanging ideas. I have not changed," Rockefeller said. Rockefeller noted that he had opposed the civil rights bill because of the police powers it gives the federal government; and that he had commended Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, for voting against it in the Senate.

But, Rockefeller said, "I'll abide by the law because I must. I've given my sacred word to do so."

Rockefeller said he was glad that Faubus had criticized him for "lying" to welfare clients about the role the state has played in increasing their grants over the last 10 years.

He admitted that he had made a mistake in this area. "I said that the state's share amounted to only $2 a month for each year. On checking this out, I find that it is only 59 cents per month."

Rockefeller said the state was paying 26 per cent of the welfare grant in 1954, and that it is now only paying 23 per cent.

He said Faubus promised during his 1954 campaign to close the gambling casinos at Hot Springs but didn't get around to it until nine years and four months later.

"Then it took a legislative resolution to call gambling to his attention," Rockefeller said. Rockefeller noted that Faubus has said opponents of gambling could have stopped it any time by injunction.

"I thought the governor was required by law to enforce the law," he said.

Calvin E. Gross, Superintendent of schools, warned that the city could lose $2.2 million in state aid if absenteeism today is the same as Monday.

Despite the boycott, the integration program was put into effect and many Negro children spent their first day in schools where whites were in the majority.

Many Negro mothers were enthusiastic. They spoke of their children "having a chance for a good education," or "learning to live with other people," or just "getting out of the slums for a while."

Absences in the million-pupil school system — largest in the nation — totaled 275,638. Normal absenteeism is 100

By now, it is pretty well settled that shapes are coming back. Women are going to look like women in the new Fall styles, and men are proud of it. Not only can you tell where curves round out and in, but there is also an all-girl-type look.

There is to be a return to the "misty-eyed" make-up; hair will be soft and silky, not teased and, from the eyes, you can tell a boy from a girl.

Yes, we are all going very genuine this Fall... and it is a welcome sight. Shift dresses will fit in certain places, enough to give a curvy look. Pleats are good and getting better. You can wear them in all types of fabric, but the very flat, permanent ones are most flattering.

The much talked of "return-to-suits" has really happened. A suit is, and always has been, the basis of any woman's wardrobe; and the reason is... we are not taking off to a foreign country, but if you just take a drive to Little Rock to attend a club meeting, a suit will be the perfect costume. Select one that can be worn with an overblouse and gives you both a suit and is in one.

We have added two hi-fashion suits to our collection, the Mary Marlin and Crestmoor. Beautiful new fabrics of Kings-tweed, Chardella, Marcell, Trevy Twist, Caneweave and imported double knit.

Plain or mink trims. They are priced from $49.95 right on up. See them today at Raley's Style Shoppe, 523 West 3rd.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Each day 200,000 automobiles race through Hollywood on the freeway, and many of the drivers catch a momentary glimpse of a triple-domed building that resembles a miniature Taj Mahal.

This is Vedanta Temple, a curious island of tranquility amid the city's roar.

From 1930 to 1953, the Vedanta Society maintained its headquarters on a sleepy street three blocks north of the boulevard. Then the freeway came slashing through the hills. The temple took measures to exclude the noise, and the intrusion appears not to have impeded the function of the society.

Twenty men and women live in the Vedanta colony, which Waller are captains.

In the class elections, the following were elected: Richard Calhoun, president; Jim Purtle, vice-president; Patricia Harris, secretary; Sidney Waller, treasurer; and Randy Wright, reporter. The Safety Patrol will be on duty for 3 weeks at a time and then new ones will be elected.

Paisley Jr. Daffodil Garden Club Meets
The Paisley Jr. Daffodil Garden Club met Monday, September 14, at the school to elect new 1964-65 officers, and they are as follows: president, Bill Cox; vice, president, Jimmy Langston; sec-treas., Sandra Sinyard; public chairman, Randy Byers; Hospitality chairman, Arletta Bain; program committee, Jim Langston, Jerry Stroud, and Lajuana Rowe.

The program for the coming year is October 16, Film, Disney water burns—November 16, Birds, Mrs. Stephen Carrigan, Jr.—December, Christmas decorations, Mrs. Rose Luck—January 25, Pot Plants—February 22, Conservation, judging a bird house—March and April, Fly Arrangements.

The Sr. sponsor is Mrs. W.R. Routon.

Coming and Going

Mrs. Roy Prather of Little Rock will arrive Wednesday afternoon to be the guest for a few days with her mother, Mrs. Steve Carrigan, Jr.

The Ross Copeland family were Sunday visitors in Arkadelphia with Mr. and Mrs. James "Buddy" Copeland and family.

Mrs. P. Vagg and John left Saturday morning from Dallas to return to their home in Australia after visiting her daughter, Mrs. D. E. Faris, Mr. Faris, and family in Hope for several weeks.

Mrs. J. B. Shuford, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Leon Bundy, and Mrs. Roy Stephenson went to Nashville Friday for the funeral of Mrs. Ada McClanahan McGraw.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lockard of Alton, Ill., visited last week in Spring Hill with Mrs. W. S. McDowell, Mrs. Ludie Butler, and other friends and in Hope with Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McDowell.

consists of the temple and bungalows surrounding it. The colonists staff the office and bookstore and care for the buildings and gardens, which are a picture of neatness. They also partake of thrice-daily hours of meditation.

What is Vedanta?
The society explains itself in literature written by Aldous Huxley, John Van Druten, Christopher Isherwood and others who have been attracted to its promise of peace. The name stems from the Vedas, ancient Indian scriptures on which its teachings are based.

The thesis of Vedanta is threefold: That man's real nature is divine; that the aim of his life is to unfold and manifest the divinity hidden within him; that truth is universal, hence all religions are valid.

Head of Vedanta in Hollywood is Swami Prabhavananda, an ageless, serene-faced man who came here from India in 1923 to further the work of the society. He took time from meditations to talk to a visitor in his immaculate office adjoining the incense-scented temple.

He explained that swami is a Hindu term for member of a monastic society; like a monk, he is a celibate. Vedanta is conducted on a teacher-disciple basis, hence he and his assistants conduct temple services on Sunday and lead lecture and discussion classes during the week.

"I teach students how to meditate," he said. "There is no one method of teaching; the temperament of each student is different and must be approached in a different manner. I don't disturb his ideas and beliefs. If he believes in Christ, I teach him to meditate on Christ. If he believes in God generally, I show him how to meditate in that regard."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Network television is poised on the threshold of its new season which officially starts Sunday. With all the carefully planted rumors about surprise hits, it is interesting to look back a year — at the supposed to-be-hits of only 12 months ago.

There was, first, "100 Grand," which ABC fondly believed would restore the old-fashioned, big-money quiz show to its former glory. It was the first disaster of the season, slipping away after a couple of dreary performances — to be replaced by "Laughs for Sale" which didn't last much longer.

Then there was NBC's "Harry's Girls," that limped along, dodging Jack Paar's fire, until it was replaced with "That Was the Week That Was."

CBS tasted its share of ashes, too, with "Tell It to the Camera."

Other programs would have disappeared earlier, had not the network contracted for a minimum number of shows — ABC's "Jaimie McPheeters," "Channing," and the Edie Adams-Sid Caesar series of short specials. Then there was the flashiest failure of the season, CBS' "Judy Garland Show."

The season lies ahead, and the experts are busy — sight unseen in many cases — handicapping the various new entries. One expert, an advertising agency program analyst writing in the trade magazine, "Television," points out that in many cases it is not how good a show is but where it is located that spells its success or failure.

The analyst, James H. Cornell, predicts that, for still another year the two top programs

Highlights in History of Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 16, the 260th day of 1964. There are 106 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1940, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the Selective Service Training Act. The first peacetime draft in the history of the United States became law.

On this date:

In 1722, the Revolutionary War figure, Samuel Adams, was born in Boston.

In 1862, the Civil War Battle of Antietam began in Maryland.

In 1919, the American Legion was incorporated by an act of Congress.

In 1945, the British accepted the formal surrender of Hong Kong by the Japanese.

Ten years ago — New York City Magistrate Charles Murphy was named administrator of a code of ethics adopted by the newly formed Comics Magazine Association of America.

Five years ago — Soviet Premier Khrushchev visited tourist spots in Washington.

One year ago — The Federation of Malaysia was born; Indonesians, opposed to the union, stormed embassies of Great Britain and Malaya in Jakarta, Indonesia.

Won't Make New Congo Deadline

By LYNN HEINZERLING

LONDON (AP) — Moise Tshombe is not going to make his deadline for showing the world a new Congo in three months.

The flamboyant, fast-talking secessionist leader from Katanga took office as premier in Leopoldville July 10 with the brass promise to reform Africa's problem child.

With one month to go, Tshombe and the world are still faced with the same old Congo — sullen, rebellious and dangerous.

Tshombe has added one new and refreshing ingredient to the Congolese stew, a political leader who is constantly on the move and who acts. His stated objectives for the Congo — national reconciliation, prosperity and peace — are beyond reproach.

The Congolese central governwill be CBS' "Beverly Hillsbillies" and NBC's "Bonanza." The only new show that he expects to climb into the Nielsen top 10 show ratings is CBS' "Cora Williams Show," which just happens to follow "Beverly Hillsbillies" and the top rated "Dick Van Dyke Show" on Wednesday nights.

Cornell also expects that only about one out of three of the new shows will be counted a success — about par for a normal season.

"DEAR ABBY"

SQUEEZE PLAY

By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: About two years ago my sister told me that my husband never missed a chance to hug and squeeze a certain woman we both know. I asked my husband about this and he denied it. My sister has a habit of making a lot of nothing, so I let the matter drop. I had really forgotten all about it until I saw this woman at our church picnic. My husband didn't know I was watching him and he came up behind the woman, placed both his hands on her bare arms and gave her a squeeze. She didn't seem surprised or angry, either. Since then I told my husband not to speak to me. I'd go to this woman's husband and tell him about it, but he's very jealous and might hurt my husband. Am I making something out of nothing, or do you think I have a problem? I've had men try stuff like that with me, but I've always given them such a dirty look they never tried it again. I'd appreciate your advice.

TROUBLED

Dear Troubled: Start talking to your husband and ask him to forgive your childish behavior. Your sister is a troublemaker. Avoid her. The woman probably knew your husband's "squeeze" ment has not seen a leader with his energy and dash since the unhappy days of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba.

But Tshombe is being defeated by the same enemies that have frustrated the Congo's leaders from the beginning of independence four years ago — tribal hatreds, political immaturity, corruption and apathy.

With or without the assistance of the Organization of African Unity, these are formidable foes. Most of Africa's leaders are fighting the same enemies at home with varying success.

Tshombe, now dedicated to a unified Congo, is at present facing rebellions in Kivu, North Katanga, Kivu and Oriental provinces. Stanleyville, one of the country's most important cities, is in rebel hands.

Red Chinese diplomats and agents openly are supporting the rebels with money and advice on guerrilla tactics. They have been operating through rebel headquarters established in Brazzaville and Bujumbura with the complacent assent of the Congo's neighbors, the Congo Republic and Burundi.

African nationalist leaders have criticized the United States for supporting Tshombe's central government after opposing him when he was trying to take Katanga out of the Congo. A small number of U.S. transport planes and trucks have been placed at the disposal of the Congolese national army.

Washington says there has been no reversal of U.S. policy in the Congo. From the first day of independence, Washington has worked and spent its money for a united Congo, strong and prosperous enough to fill a strategic area in the heart of Africa.

was nothing more than an affectionate, innocent gesture. Grow up and thaw out or you'll create more problems than can be solved in one letter.

Dear Abby: I am blonde, five feet, three inches tall, weigh 110 pounds and have a fairly good shape. I live in a nice apartment which is beautifully furnished with my own things; in fact, I decorated it myself. I make a good living, do all kinds of art work as a hobby and have even sold some of my oil paintings. I can put on wallpaper as good as any professional, also paint, lay tile and even repair my own car. I am my own cook, housekeeper and I make my own clothes. When I go out there isn't a dance I can't do. Do you think I need a man?

MISS INDEPENDENT

Dear Miss: Obviously you do, or the question would never have occurred to you.

Dear Abby: I still love this boy I went steady with. We broke up about two months ago. I have tried everything to forget him, but it is no use because I loved him too much from the start. I have called him up and all my girl friends have called him up, too, trying to get him to go back with me. They all say we are perfect for each other. He always says he has something important to do. How can I get him back?

STILL CARES

Dear Still: If you want to get this boy back, your technique could hardly be worse. You've probably wrecked your chances by now so you have nothing to lose by ignoring him entirely, which is what you should have done in the first place.

Confidential To "Discouraged" In Lima: Your "failures" can be counted as victories if you have learned something from them.

Why Won't You Believe Us....!

The saddest words an insurance agent ever has to say are:
"Sorry, you just didn't want that protection when it was offered to you — don't you remember?"

or

"We're sorry you have just $* on your building and contents. We tried to get you to take $* but you just didn't see the need for that much."

NOW — TODAY — BEFORE you need it — won't you get your fire policies out and review your coverages? IF you find that you don't have enough protection to get you back into business in the event of a disastrous fire or windstorm pick up the telephone and CALL YOUR INSURANCE AGENT!

Ask him about Business Interruption coverage which will pay salaries of key employees and other fixed expenses while you are rebuilding. Ask him about FIRE LEGAL LIABILITY in case you are sued for damages resulting from fires originating on your premises.

If you have confidence enough in an insurance agent to trust your business to him, then by all means trust him enough to listen to his advice and counsel.

Report on Riots to Be Made by FBI

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has directed the FBI to compile hundreds of reports on recent street violence so he can see if any common pattern exists and decide whether any new laws are needed.

The President told an impromptu news conference in his office Wednesday that he has already informed mayors and governors where such rioting has occurred that the federal government will "make available the full information we may have" and offer any extra help under present laws.

Johnson said such offers have been made to officials in New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Mississippi and Georgia.

In his announcement, the President said the FBI is gathering reports on "riots and disturbances of the peace" at the rate of "about 40 a night." He said the reports might reveal "some particular pattern that will need to be pointed up, and that will lead us to make further recommendations," including proposals for new federal laws.

He said he referred "specifically (but) not exclusively," to riots such as those in Philadelphia and New York's Harlem.

Johnson used the news conference to reel off another long list of the latest economic statistics to bolster his belief that "confidence in economic prosperity is growing."

He said consumer spending increased by a record $15 billion in the first half of 1964, while financial savings of individuals reached a record level of $7.7 billion in the April-June quarter.

On other subjects, Johnson: — Opened the conference by reporting that Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor had given him and congressional leaders "a full and frank examination" of the situation in South Vietnam.

Announced he would meet with Canadian Prime Minister Lester Pearson under the International Peace Arch between Washington State and British Columbia to commemorate the Columbia River treaty. The two leaders plan to make an aerial survey of the region.

— Indicated he approved of the Senate's plan to reopen the investigation of former Senate aide Bobby Baker. Johnson said he favors a "thorough investigation and study of any indications that federal law may have been violated."

— Expressed pleasure that the United Auto Workers Union and Chrysler has agreed on a new contract which neither thinks is inflationary. He declined to comment on the terms because he had not yet studied them.

— Said the administration-sponsored tax cut earlier this year was based on a considered judgment that this was the amount of tax relief that was justified. Asked to comment on a call by GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater for a 5 per cent annual tax cut for five years, Johnson said he would indicate in his State of the Union message in January whether further relief was justified.

— Announced formation of a panel of distinguished private citizens to advise the president and secretary of state and the secretary of defense on national developments, individually or collectively. Members will include Arthur Dean, Eugene Black, Dean Acheson, John J. McCloy, Omar Bradley and Allen Dulles.

Ruling Makes Spa Separate District

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled today that a law making Garland County a Judicial District unto itself is constitutional.

But it said Bruce Cockrell, who is charged with murder in Garland County, can get a change of venue to another county outside the district.

A 1963 legislative act transferred Montgomery County out of the 18th District, leaving only Garland County.

When Cockrell asked that his trial be moved to another county, Judge P. E. Dobbs said he could not do this because there was no other county in the district to which he could move it.

The Supreme Court said the trial could be moved to a county outside the district if the judge approved Cockrell's motion for a change of venue.

The court said the legislature has the power to change districts in any manner it sees fit.

Thursday — Beef patties, String beans, Sweet potatoes, with marshmallow topping, White bread - Milk.

SHORT RIDS

By Frank O'Neal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four children died today in a fire that swept a 2-story brick row house in northeast Washington.

Three older children, the eldest 16, escaped.

Found dead of asphyxiation in a single bed were Preazine Davis, 5; her sister Caroline, 3; their brother, Elijah, 2; and a cousin, Bernard Williams, 5.

The parents of the Davis children, Mr. and Mrs. William Davis, had gone to work before the fire was reported.

Deputy fire marshal Anthony Mico said the fire started when one of the children dropped a piece of burning paper with which he was trying to light a gas stove in the kitchen.

He moved cautiously lower, working down off the heights through a faint smog of wood smoke, pulses throbbing to a dozen conjectures. A man could let excitement run clear away from him. The fellow had probably been camped near here, simply deciding to depart coincident with Ives arrival, completely unaware there had been another man in miles of him. A hunter possibly, maybe a prospector.

It was the likeliest explanation and Ives, about to settle for it, was kneeling his gelding across the floor, anxious to get on, when the horse without warning let out a trumpeting whinny.

Ives wheeled, swearing, for a quick look around as an answering nicker broke against the brooding quiet. He spied almost at once a brief splash of firelight against a slanting rock face partway up the farther slope.

It was gone so swiftly he wasn't sure he hadn't imagined it, but in the returned nag of questions he swung the horse about and, grabbing Polly's rifle, slid from the saddle.

Was that how it started? Was that how shed put her hooks in to him?

Ives hoped this horse was mountain bred with enough sense to watch where he was putting his feet. In this huffy gloom, a man would step right off and never know what struck him. The cold glitter of stars made the bottom seem a million miles away and the suck of that wind coming out of these gorges had the grip of a dying Indian.

Three men had flourished rifles but only one had planned it. Put a name to that galoot, Ives mused, and he'd have the surest means of coming up with the spils.

The robbers, eventually, would have turned up in Terrapin. It was the hub of this country, a protected town—if you had Sam Renwick on your side of the fence. Ives was fairly certain Sheriff Sam knew more than was generally apparent if, indeed, he wasn't the mainspring of it.

Belief and proof were not quite the same things. It would take more than hunches to put a rope around Sam's neck. He didn't look the kind of customer who would panic.

Ives got to thinking of Jude's sister then and his thoughts naturally hauled back to Polly. A comparison was inevitable, and from that his mind skipped around to Jude Cotten's crew and Ives was scowlingly reminded they knew his name was Ives. Like a fool, he'd come right out with it in front of Finney, the cook, and that other pair of hands. If one of them talked he could be in for rough sledding.

This was rugged country he was coming into, much of it on end and all of it tinged with a kind of wildness.

It was cold up here in these windswept rocks, and some of this chill was working into his bones. A coyote somewhere set up a yapping and Ives shivered.

In the beginning pure impulse had caused him to listen to her. He wondered, had it been that way with Sam too? Had the woman inspired Sam with her pretty ways? Had her trembling helplessness worked on a man's instinctive compulsion to protect and reassure?

but that the Bill of Rights also guarantees the individual the right to an impartial jury.

Relief Hurler Takes Orioles to Victory

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

It's been a fun year for Ken Rowe, the workingest pitcher in baseball, and because of him, the Baltimore Orioles are liable to laugh themselves right into the American League pennant. Baltimore, shopping around for late-season help in their pennant push, picked up relief pitcher Rowe from the Los Angeles Dodgers' Spokane farm club in the Pacific Coast League last week. He pitched his first inning in relief for the Orioles Monday night and came up a winner when Baltimore pushed across a run in the bottom of the ninth to edge Minnesota 4-3.

Rowe, who seems to thrive on work, set an organized baseball record for appearances, coming in 88 times, before being purchased by the Orioles. The big 30-year-old right-hander enjoyed all the assignments. "It's been a fun year and I've really been lucky," he said. "I consider it a challenge — a personal challenge — each time I'm called in from the bullpen."

Monday night the Twins challenged Rowe and came out second best. Shut out for six innings by Oriole starter Milt Pappas, Minnesota surged back on home runs by Don Mincher and Jimmie Hall for a 3-2 lead.

Pappas left for a hitler in the eighth and Rowe came on to hurl the ninth, his 89th game of the year and first one in the AL. The veteran pitcher got the Twins 1-2-3 and won it when Luis Aparicio's sacrifice fly delivered the winning run in the bottom of the ninth.

In the only other American League game scheduled, Kansas City edged Boston 7-6. In the National League, Philadelphia stretched its lead to 6½ games, defeating Houston 4-1 for Chris Short's 17th victory. Pittsburgh dropped Los Angeles 7-2 in the only other game played.

The Orioles' lead over second place New York stretched to 1½ games. Third place Chicago is two games back.

Brooks Robinson and Sam Bowens homered for Baltimore. Ninth inning back-to-back triples by Dick Green and Bill Bryan tied the game and a ground rule double by Ed Charles won it as Kansas City came from behind against Boston.

John Wyatt, another workhorse, made his 73rd appearance for the A's tying Boston's Dick Radatz for the AL record. Jim Konstanty set the major league mark with 74 in 1950.

Travelers Will Play San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Arkansas Travelers get another chance starting tonight to accomplish one of the few things they didn't in regular season play—take a series from the San Diego Padres.

Arkansas and San Diego, champions of the Eastern and Western Divisions of Pacific Coast League baseball, begin their best of seven series here tonight to see who will wear the PCL crown.

The Padres and Arkansas split 2-2 in a series at Little Rock, and when the Travelers went to the coast San Diego came out ahead 3-1.

The first three games of the playoff will be at San Diego, then the teams travel to Little Rock to finish.

Porkers Are Polishing Their Drills

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks, their heavy contact work behind them, prepared Monday for the season opener with Oklahoma State by going through polishing drills.

Lon Ferrell, freshman line coach, gave the Razorbacks a scouting report on the Cowboys Monday night.

Arkansas and Oklahoma State clash Saturday night at Little Rock.

The Razorbacks have been working on defenses against OSU since last Thursday.

Head Coach Frank Broyles said Monday's depth, chart would be a good indication of how the Razorbacks would line up against Oklahoma State.

Listed Monday on the No. 1 offensive team chart were ends Jerry Lamb and Bobby Crockett, tackles Glen Ray Hines and Mike Bender, guards Randy Stewart and Jerry Jones, center Melvin Gibbs, quarterback Fred Marshall, tailback Jack Brasuell, wingback Jim Lindsey and fullback Bobby Nix.

On the defensive chart were ends James Finch and Les Johnson, tackles Loyd Phillips and Tommy Sain, nose guard Tim Johnson, halfbacks Ken Hatfield and Stu Berryhill, monster man Mike Jordan and safety Hrary Jones.

BOSTON (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, pardon, Muhammad Ali, was strangely subdued. Challenger Sonny Liston actually smiled.

Gov. Endicott Peabody announced they'd meet in a Nov. 16 title fight at Boston Garden — to the surprise of no one.

The World Boxing Association quickly replied that everyone in the room was quarantined, as it were, by a sweeping suspension. Clay's title was lifted.

Clay, deep in thoughts of the Black Muslims and a 30 per cent slice of a predicted $5 million purse, looked as concerned as an elephant bitten by a gnat.

"Who are the WBA, they oughta be investigated," Liston said in scorn.

"The WBA had threatened in advance to refuse to recognize a rematch."

The Massachusetts Boxing Commission, which has bounced in and out of that fistic forum faster than a man on a trampoline, as has Michigan, said it felt the safeguards it had undertaken would satisfy the WBA.

"This isn't really a return bout," said commissioner Ed Urbec. "We've arranged a fight between the champion and the top contender."

"We shouldn't have been allowed to vote in the last WBA meeting anyway. We didn't pay our dues last year or this year because of our financial condition."

"I can't visualize the public not accepting Clay as the champion. Titles are won or lost in the ring. This is the fight the public wants."

Gov. Peabody wasn't too concerned, either. "I look forward to a great fight," said the chief executive who did not win his party's renomination in the state primary.

The State Commission, in its statement, outlined stipulations for the 15-round bout. Chief among them is that the winner must post a $50,000 cash guarantee he'll meet one of the top four rated contenders as listed by the WBA within six months after the fight.

The next step the WBA is expected to take, having now declared "no recognition" of the fight and "no champion" is to set up a tournament to settle the title.

Merv McKenzie, newly elected president of the World Boxing Association, said from Toronto the mass suspensions became automatic when the fight was signed.

At any rate, the fight is on at the Garden where 13,909 is the legal capacity and where tickets will be scaled from $50 to $10.

Sam Silverman, partial promoter along with Intercontinental Promotions, Inc., estimated it would produce a $450,000 gate with the rest of the money coming from closed-circuit TV, radio, and foreign rights, including movies.

Both contestants will get 30 per cent of the whole pot.

Both say they'll win without much elaboration.

Phils Virtually Running Away in National

By MURRAY CHASS

While the Philadelphia Phillies virtually are running away with the National League pennant, they are enjoying an intramural game of follow the leader.

Their latest game came Monday night as they defeated Houston 4-1 and increased their lead to 6½ games over the second-place St. Louis Cards, whose game at Milwaukee was rained out.

Chris Short posted his 17th victory against seven defeats with a four-hitter while Johnny Callison rapped three hits, drove in two and scored two.

One part of the Phillies' game features Short and fellow pitcher Jim Bunning while another includes Callison and rookie Richie Allen.

Short's 17th triumph came just one day after Bunning recorded his 17th victory. The aces of Philadelphia's pitching staff have followed that pattern recently.

Bunning won his 14th game Aug. 23, and Short followed suit three days later. Their 15th victories came Sept. 1 and 2, respectively, while the 16th plateau was reached Sept. 5 and 10.

Although Short, who will be 27 Saturday, has lost three more games than Bunning, his earned run average is lower — 1.85 to 2.23. In fact, only Sandy Koufax has a better ERA in the league, 1.74, and he's finished for the season.

Incidentally, if Short and Bunning each win 20 games, it will mark the first time since 1916 that the Phillies have had two winners in that category.

Grover Cleveland Alexander won 33 games and Eppa Rixey won 22 for the second-place Phillies that year.

But back to follow the leader, Allen and Callison have joined the fun the past two games.

Allen, the second batter in the line-up Monday night, singled in the first inning before Callison, batting third, lofted his 27th

Must Find New Ways, Spe Told

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Willard E. Abel of San Francisco, president-elect of the American Hotel-Motel Association, predicted here last week that the Hot Springs tourist industry could recover from the closing of gambling casinos.

He predicted Hot Springs hotel and motel owners will find new ways of attracting visitors if gambling is not legalized in November.

Abel was in Hot Springs to address a four-state regional meeting of the association.

Daily Herald of London Folds

LONDON (AP) — The Daily Herald, voice of Britain's Laborites for 52 years, died today to make room for a paper that claims to be tuned to the affluent age.

Long ailing and losing money, the Herald was briskly extinguished and its place turned over to a brighter, brasher off-spring. The name of the new-come is the Sun. It comes out for the first time Tuesday morning.

The Herald was selling 1.2 million copies a day.

Three years ago it was taken over by the International Publi-her, a season high for him.

The day before, Callison, third in the line-up, belted a run-scoring single in the 10th inning before Allen, hitting fourth, slammed his 26th homer. Callison's hit snapped a 1-1 tie, and Allen's blow clinched the victory.

Besides his home run Monday, Callison singled in the third and doubled and scored in the fifth.

Short lost his shutout bid in the eighth inning when Bob Lillis doubled and came around on two infield outs.

In the only other NL game, Pittsburgh whipped Los Angeles 7-2 as Bob Veale fired a five-hitter for his 17th victory against 10 losses. Dick Schofield drove in four of the Pirates' runs. His three-run double in the fourth broke a 2-2 deadlock.

In the only American League game, Baltimore nipped Minnesota 4-3, and Kansas City edged Boston 7-6.

Gridder Is Leader in Amateur Play

CLEVELAND (AP) — "I didn't get this nervous in the Rose Bowl," said Pandel Savic, the old Ohio State quarterback, as he teed up his ball in the National Amateur Golf Championship.

The results bore him out.

The husky glove salesman from Columbus, Ohio, staggered in with a 78 Monday, far back in the pack. When he was doing the passing for football-happy Ohio State he brought home a Big Ten championship in 1949 and a Rose Bowl victory.

The low score at the halfway mark of the 36-hole qualifying test was 71, set by Bob Greenwood, 25, of Cookeville, Tenn.; Dr. Edgar Updegraff, 42, from Tucson, Ariz.; Ed Tutwiler, 45 of Indianapolis and Charlie Smith, 33, of Gastonia, N.C.

Five others were at 72, including Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla., the 1962 runner-up, and Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., former Walker Cup captain.

The colorful Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., finished with three straight bogies for 73. Defender Deane Beman had 74.

None of the name players in the field was in any danger. It appeared that a score of about 150 or 151 over the testing Canterbury course would be necessary to qualify for match play which starts Wednesday.

The best 64 scorers in the 150-man field will advance.

Left Him Money for Cab Fare

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Cab driver Charles Blasko, 57, picked up two men Monday and at their direction drove to a destination several blocks away.

There one of the men pointed a pistol at him and took $17.

Before fleeing the men tossed him $1.50—90 cents for the meter reading and a 60-cent tip.
